

Who is Radarsign?

Radarsign's mission is to manufacture the most vandal resistant, reliable, cost-effective driver awareness signs. Incorporated in 2004, Radarsign's customers are throughout the US including Alaska and Hawaii.

Radarsign is a leader in manufacturing driver feedback signs. These signs detect the speed of an on-coming vehicle and based upon user defined parameters displays the drivers speed. Each sign records traffic information for safety personnel to utilize in their efforts to make streets safer.

The radarsign actively notifies the approaching driver of his speed, according to several studies, drivers comply up to 66% more to the posted speed limit, thus inherently making the streets safer.

While alternative solutions to achieve reduced speeds exist, the radarsign is the only one that does not cause increased greenhouse emissions (starting and stopping @ speed humps, bumps and unnecessary stop signs), nor slow down or damage emergency vehicles. Additionally, with the flexibility of mounting options, the radarsign can be placed where it is most needed and easily be moved.

After extensive market research, interviews with public works directors, traffic engineers and police chiefs the Radarsign engineering staff designed a competitive product that offers the benefits that cities and counties were looking for in a radar speed sign.

- Reliability – little if no maintenance.
- Most efficient use of power – longer operational field times, reduced size and costs of power supplies (batteries and solar panels)
- Most Vandal Resistant – greater piece of mind and lower cost of ownership
- Customized Bluetooth communication - Efficient for sign data collection and report generation. (Internet access and control to be available in 2009)

Our emphasis on reliability and customer service results in a relationship that is easy to work with. In a nutshell, Radarsign provides its customers with the most cost-effective solution for many of their traffic calming needs.
